CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS : Publishers

THE CENTURY CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

Ready March 24.

The Autobiography of a Quack.

By Dr. S. WEIR MITCHELL, Author of "Hugh Wynne," etc.

MERELY as a story of adventure "The Autobiography of a Quack" easily justifies its existence, but its main interest is psychological. It is a remarkable exposition of the mental processes by which a man born without moral sense seeks to justify his life. The Rochester Post-Express considers it "the best bit of story-writing that Dr. Mitchell has done." 16mo, illustrated, $1.25.

Sailing Alone Around the World.

By Captain JOSHUA SLOCUM.

THIS is the personal narrative of the sailor of the sloop "Spray" on her single-handed voyage of 46,000 miles. It records a unique experience, and the narrative is as remarkable as the voyage. The little vessel which made the journey measured less than forty feet over all, and fourteen feet two inches beam. The New York Evening Post says of the story: "We have to go back to Marryat for anything at all like it." With 63 illustrations, 8vo, 325 pages, $2.00.

TWO NEW NOVELS.

Deacon Bradbury.

By EDWIN ASA DIX.

THIS is a profound study of a man of iron will and inflexible integrity living in a village where religion is a vital factor in the life of the community. How the faith of this God-fearing man comes to be shaken to its foundations by the supposed backsliding of an only son, and what are the consequences to himself and others of the spiritual conflict in which he finds himself, are admirably shown. 12mo, 325 pages, $1.50.

Kate Wetherill.

By JENNETTE LEE.

THE heroine of this tale is a young woman of a type more familiar in New England than in any other part of the country. She is married to a man who is her mental inferior, and through spiritual suffering finally attains peace. The author divides her book, which she calls "An Earth Comedy," into the same subdivisions as Dante's "Divina Commedia," "Hell," "Purgatory," "Paradise." 16mo, 200 pages, $1.25.

The Wager, and Other Poems.

A new book of verse by Dr. S. WEIR MITCHELL, $1.00.

Owing to the very large first edition and the fact that the book is printed in three colors, it is not possible to issue

The Biography of a Grizzly,

By ERNEST SETON-THOMPSON,

with the above books as announced. Mr. Seton-Thompson's new book will be ready April 14th.

Sold Everywhere. Published by

THE CENTURY CO., Union Square, New York.

THE OFFICE OF THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY has removed to 298 Broadway, between Reade and Duane Streets, where it is located on the sixth floor. The cars of the Metropolitan Street Railway system pass the door, and the east side "L" station at City Hall and the west side "L" station at Chambers Street and West Broadway are but a few blocks distant.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THE AMERICAN NEWS Co. publish to-day in The People's Library "The Heart of Princess Osra" by Anthony Hope. They will also publish shortly a limited paper edition of Marie Corelli's "Barabbas."

THE MERSHON COMPANY announce in their Mershon's Copyright Library "Kennedy of Glenhaugh," by David McClure, author of "David Todd," etc.; "His Three Wives," by Mrs. J. H. Walworth; and "Uranie," by Camille Flammarion.

DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE Co. have just ready "Debts of Honor," by Maurus Jokai, a story of castles, reckless nobles, gypsies, and robbers; "The Bewitched Fiddle, and Other Stories," by Seumas MacManus, Irish stories written in humorous vein; "Kela Bai," an Anglo-Indian idyll, by Charles Johnston; and "An Eventful Night," by Clara Parker, telling of experiences begun at a dentist's that culminated in an elopement.

THE H. B. CLAFLIN Co. announce that the limited paper editions of the following copyright books are exhausted: "The Honorable Peter Stirling," "The Forest Lovers," "The Adventures of François," "The Continental Dragoon," and "Tekla." All orders for these will hereafter be filled from the higher-priced editions. They have in preparation paper editions of the "Gadfly," "For the Freedom of the Sea," "A Gentleman Player," and "The Jessamy Bride."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS publish to-day "The Rhymer," a romance of Edinburgh and Scotch rural life, of which the poet Burns is the central figure, by Allan McAulay; "The Toiling of Felix, and other poems," by Henry Van Dyke, which includes the verse which Dr. Van Dyke has written since the publication, three years ago, of "The Builders"; "Faith and Sight, the relations of agnosticism to theology," by Rev. William P. Merrill; also "The Forms of Prose Literature," by J. H. Gardiner, of Harvard, a collection of twenty carefully selected examples, with an introductory analysis designed to be used in conjunction with Wendell's "English Composition," and other similar books.

THE CENTURY COMPANY publishes to-day "The Autobiography of a Quack," a clever story by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell; also a new volume of poems by Dr. Mitchell, entitled "The Wager, and other poems." They have also just ready "Sailing Alone Around the World," by Captain Joshua Slocum, the personal narrative of the sailor of the sloop Spray on her single handed voyage of 46,000 miles; and two new novels—"Deacon Bradbury," by Edwin Asa Dix, and "Kate Wetherill," by Jennette Lee. The Century Company, in order to obtain better results of a new color process in book illustration, have postponed the publication of Seton-Thompson's "The Biography of a Grizzly" until the middle of April.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish shortly a "Spanish Prose Composition," by the well-known Prof. Montrose Marathor Ramsay, author of the standard "Text-book of Modern Spanish," and co-author with Lieut.-Colonel Rowan, of "The Island of Cuba." They also have nearly ready the "Memoirs of the Baroness de Courtot," the earlier part of which deals with the stirring events of the French Revolution, the Baroness herself being rescued after having entered the death cart. Quieter passages follow, giving touching incidents of her friendship for Frau von Alvensleben, from whose diary much of the book is taken. Later are presented intimate glimpses of Napoleon, Josephine, and other most interesting people of the time.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Bacheller, Irving Addison, ed. Best things from American literature. N. Y., Christian Herald, 1899. 416 p. il. por. O. cl., $1.

"The editor of this volume has aimed to set forth in it the literary impulse of our own time, avoiding largely things that have gone stale in familiar anthologies. There are poems, there are speeches, there are chapters of fiction and of history... the book also largely reproduces the work of new writers—men and women who have not yet won the fame they merit."—Preface.

Balzac, Honoré de. Letters to Madame Hanska, born Countess Rzewuska afterwards Madame Honoré de Balzac, 1833-1846; tr. by Katherine Prescott Wormeley. Bost., Hardy, Pratt & Co., 1900. c. 17+755 p. D. hf. mor., $1.50.

Miss Wormeley says in her preface: "The simple story of these letters is as follows. In February, 1833, Balzac received a letter, posted in Russia, from a lady who signed herself 'l'Etrangere' ('Foreigner.') This letter is not known to exist, nor is there any authentic knowledge of its contents; but it began a correspondence between its writer and Balzac which ended in their marriage in 1850."

"This is a story of a nation during a century of struggle upward out of the abyss into which despotism and bigotry had sunk it. . . . I may fairly claim to possess some special qualifications for relating many of the incidents set forth in this history. In my youth I have listened open-eyed for hours to the tales of aged relatives and their friends who had borne active part in the great struggle early in the century. Some of them had been friends of Godoy, some of them companions in arms of Wellington and Hill. . . ."—Author's Introduction.

Contains about 95,000 entries of important historical events. The arrangement of this material is on a new quick-reference plan. First there is a classification in alphabetical order by countries, or by geographical location; second, a classification by dates; third, a classification according to the nature of the event itself. These classifications answer the three questions Where? When? What? These classifications have a key in a copious index of two hundred and ninety pages, containing one hundred and twenty-five thousand entries, in which all the events and names recorded in the book are again entered, in alphabetical order and on the topical plan. This great work of reference is the result of nine years' labor on the part of the editor, with the aid of a large corps of helpers.

The heroine "Mirry-Ann" is a Manx girl, of a specially spiritual nature. She is only known as "Old Ned Gawne's girl," but she is far above the fisher people of her native village in knowledge and education. Her love-story and the story of her unknown mother are the pathetic incidents. She is loved by three men, all of different characters and well drawn. The scene is the Isle of Man.

Opens with the Oregon dispute, and traces the growth of the Monroe Doctrine. After reviewing the important foreign relations of Monroe's second term, Prof. McMaster returns to domestic affairs, discussing the breaking up of the Republican party, and sketching certain social, political, literary, and industrial conditions which paved the way for the triumph of Jackson and Democracy. Socialistic movements and labor reforms, problems in city government, the introduction of gas and anthracite coal, the opening of the Erie Canal, the early railroads, the negro problem, the industrial revolution, the tariff and the States-rights doctrine of Calhoun, a study of the common schools in our first half century, and a striking survey of British criticism of the United States, are among the themes vividly presented.

Opening with a brief sketch of Louisiana Territory, the author has traced the events leading to the establishment of Iowa territory, and finally the admission of Iowa State. He tells about the first white man in Iowa (1673), the first white settler, what Black Hawk did, what tribes of Indians were living within the present State limits, how the settlers poured in and how they lived, where the old forts were located; describes the first territorial government, early methods of justice, early schools and churches, and the passing of the Mormons from the Mississippi to the Missouri. Adapted for supplementary reading.

Swift, B:, [pseud. for W. R. Paterson.] Dartnell: a bizarre incident. N. Y., H. S. Stone & Co., 1900. 2+186 p. D. bds., $1.25.

Sir Charles Dartnell, the last of his refined and fastidious race, lived in London to make studies of the passions of life for his almost completed book on "The dooms of love." He married a gay young girl and immediately began to teach her to develop the spiritual side of her nature by subduing all natural impulse. His aversion to noise amounted to insanity, and she was kept from the piano and from song and amusement of all kinds. How his own experience furnished a new chapter for "The dooms of love" is told by the author of "The destroyer."

Taylor, Mary Imlay. The cardinal's musketeer. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1900. c. 6+357 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

When twelve years of age a little boy, the protege of a skilful clockmaker, was adopted by Cardinal Richelieu and trained in all the arts of war. He turned out to be the son of a great nobleman who had been beheaded on false charges. During his work for Richelieu he came in contact with the man who had ruined his father and usurped his name and estates. The daughter of this man strangely influenced his life. Paris during the time when it held two courts is the scene of the story.

- Vos, B. J. Materials for German conversation; with notes and vocabulary. N. Y., Holt, 1900. c. 8+176 p. D. cl., net, 75 c.
 The collection of "materials" here offered is the direct result of class-room experience and experiment. In selecting stories that were to form the basis of conversation between teacher and pupil, it was felt that they should first be interesting in themselves; that they should readily lend themselves to reproduction on the part of the pupil, and the vocabulary should be representative of the real world, rather than that of thought and feeling. Description and all detailed setting have been eliminated in favor of action and incident. The editor has also aimed at introducing the pupil to only a limited German vocabulary.

Wickersham, Ja. A. Enoch Willoughby: a novel. N. Y., Scribner, 1900. c. 9+356 p. D. cl., $1.50.

The hero of the story was the son of old Enoch Willoughby, a delightful old Quaker of Ohio in the pioneer days. All the Willoughbys were queer and the chapters devoted to describing them are vivid and original. Young Enoch married an impetuous woman of another queer family. He became a spiritualist and had trances and visions and made great trouble for his family among the Quakers as they moved steadily westward.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

MARCH 24, 1900.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, should reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON

ARE SECOND-HAND BOOKSELLERS TO BE RATED AS JUNK SELLERS.

FOR a year or so dealers in second-hand books in Washington, D. C., Baltimore, Md., Philadelphia, and New York, and, more recently, in New Haven, Conn., have been warned officially and unofficially, to take out licenses as junk dealers, to keep records of all their purchases, and to keep their stock for a certain time before offering it for sale. This move against booksellers was started in Washington, D. C., where, now that the movement is becoming aggressive in other sections, the Attorney for the District of Columbia has just advised the Commissioners that dealers in second-hand books should be excepted from the recent amendment of the police regulations, which, he claims, conflicts with the act of Congress of March 3, 1891.

In New Haven, Conn., the City Attorney is investigating the law with reference to the dealers in second-hand goods, and whether its provisions apply also to the book dealers. The booksellers have expressed a desire to comply with the requirements of the law, but have hitherto never thought it necessary to secure licenses to carry on their business or to make regular reports of sales to the police as required of junk dealers.

The Connecticut law of 1897, which applies to dealers in "second-hand bicycles, junks, old metal, or other second-hand articles," prohibits buying from or exchanging with minors. Should the statute, therefore, be interpreted to include books as "other second-hand articles," it will considerably reduce book stocks, as the second-hand bookseller's trade in college towns is chiefly with students. Whether or not the term "other second-hand articles" broadens the scope of the statute from its specific limitations and makes the law include in its provisions all dealers in second-hand articles of any kind, is a question not yet decided. The evident intent of the law was to assist in the detection of crime and it was probably not meant to apply to such a situation as is now presented to the dealers in second-hand books.

D. APPLETON & CO. APPLY FOR A RECEIVER.

THE trade will learn with regret that, on the 22d inst., D. Appleton & Co. felt obliged to file papers in an assignment. The application for a dissolution of the corporation was formally made by Daniel Pritchard, long connected with the house, who holds one hundred shares of stock of the corporation. Justice Bischoff of the Supreme Court appointed J. Hampden Dougherty, of No. 7 Nassau Street, New York, as receiver. The bond of the receiver was fixed at $150,000. The liabilities are stated to be at $1,100,000. The actual assets are not yet known, but it is believed that with careful handling they will not only pay all claims, but also satisfy the stockholders.

On February 1 the firm, it is said, gave out a balance sheet to the stockholders that showed that the assets were equal to the liabilities. The balance sheet at that time was as follows:

ASSETS.
Cash	$190,387
Bills receivable	19,484
Accounts receivable:
Merchandise	170,010
Instalments	929,648
Manufactured stock (estimated)	386,000
Total	$1,695,529
Plates and stock in process (estimated)	$830,000
Plates of special books (estimated)	387,000
Appleton Mfg. Co., stocks and bonds	388,500
A. J. Johnson Co. stock	188,000
A. J. Johnson Co. bonds	97,000
Periodicals	25,000
Total	$3,604,029
LIABILITIES.
Capital stock	$2,000,000
Surplus	466,599
Bills payable	1,140,000
Merchandise account payable	17,430
Total	$3,604,029

The house has issued the following statement to creditors:

NEW YORK, March 22d, 1900.

To the Creditors of D. Appleton & Co.
GENTLEMEN:—For three-fourths of a century the house of D. Appleton & Co. has continued without interruption or default. With growing reputation, merited, we trust, the house legitimately has extended its interests until its position in the publishing world is firmly established and also is, we are emboldened to believe, highly esteemed.

These statements measure the pain with which we announce to you the suspension of our personal operation of the business which three generations of our family have uninterruptedly and successfully pursued.

The present situation is owing not to undue business risks nor to trade losses, but mainly to the fact that through the extension of our business on the instalment contract basis (which contracts amount to fully nine hundred thousand dollars now outstanding and in due course collectible), our capital has become inadequate to meet our maturities and we are unable to meet our obligations. You will find, however, a very valuable and money-making property (if adequate capital be provided); a business and a good will of great value, and all unmortgaged and unpledged.

The courts have appointed Mr. J. Hampden Dougherty as receiver of the corporation with power to continue the business until the further order of court.

Above all personal considerations is our anxiety to discharge our indebtedness. To this duty we shall devote ourselves unremittingly and we feel confident that with your encouragement we shall be able to fulfil not only our duty to you, but our ambition as well.

Bespeaking your consideration and helpful co-operation in the readjustment and permanent re-establishment of the business, we are,

Yours Respectfully,

D. APPLETON & Co.

Joined to this was the following statement by the Reorganization Committee:

NEW YORK, March 22d, 1900.

At the request of the Creditors representing a large amount of indebtedness of D. Appleton & Co., the undersigned have consented to act as a Reorganization Committee to prepare and submit to the Creditors a Plan of Reorganization.

The Committee has rapidly made an examination of the affairs of the Company and is fully impressed with the substantial correctness of the statements furnished the Committee by the corporation and of the rectitude of its business methods.

With satisfaction the Committee note that the assets, consisting of installment contracts, accounts receivable, merchandise on hand and a valuable plant of electrotype plates, copyrights, authors' contracts, &c., as well as the valuable good will of this old established house are very valuable; but it is manifest that advantageous results depend entirely upon the preservation of the assets in their unity and upon the uninterrupted continuance of the business.

The appointment by the Court of Mr. J. Hampden Dougherty, who is especially competent for the duty, preserves the assets for the benefit of all creditors without priority, preference or dismemberment.

We shall promptly prepare a plan of reorganization and submit the same for your consideration.

Pending the preparation of the plan, creditors are invited to file with the Secretary of the Committee at No. 14 Nassau Street, a statement of their respective claims.

JAMES G. CANNON, Chairman,

A. D. JULLIARD,

EDMUND C. CONVERSE,

WARNER VAN NORDEN,

CHARLES HATHAWAY,

Reorganization Committee.

SULLIVAN & CROMWELL, Counsel.

S. S. CONOVER, Secretary.

While members of the firm regret the necessity of the present action, they feel that it was the wise course to follow, and that by having a receiver in charge of the business for a few months the assets which cannot be realized upon in a short time can be safely protected and developed to amply cover all indebtedness. The business will go on without interruption with the receiver in charge.

Following the application for a receiver in New York, ancillary proceedings were begun in the United States Circuit Court, Chicago, on the 22d inst., and Judge Jenkins appointed J. Hampden Dougherty, of New York, and William K. Booth receivers for the Chicago business of the concern.

The order was entered without opposition from the defendant company and the receivers at once filed bonds in the sum of $25,000 each.

THE AUGUSTIN DALY SALE.

THE sales of the art objects and books which belonged to the late Augustin Daly, held at the galleries of the American Art Association this week, were attended by hosts of buyers. The large room in which sales are held was crowded to suffocation. Indeed, a short time after the first lot was put under the hammer it was almost impossible to gain entrance. While the attendance was more than gratifying to the auctioneers, the same cannot be said of the prices which many of the articles brought. The sale of books began on the evening of the 20th inst. The catalogue of the library, although printed on the thinnest of paper, makes quite a bulky volume. No fewer than 3787 lots are to be sold.

Few of the more valuable books were offered. The highest figure of the sale was $234, which was paid by George D. Smith for the "Life of Edwin Forrest," by William R. Alger. This had been extended by Mr. Daly to six volumes by the insertion of over 1160 illustrations, including water color portraits and rare engravings. Mr. Smith also secured the "Memoirs of Henry Angelo," (London, 1828,) another extra illustrated book in four volumes. Still another example of Mr. Daly's love of "Grangerizing" was the original edition of Lane's "Arabian Nights," which had been extended to six volumes, and was also bought by Mr. Smith for $111.

S. H. Wakeman paid $192 for the Benares edition of Burton's "Arabian Nights." J. S. Ehrich gave $100 for an extra-illustrated copy of Wormeley's translation of Balzac's works. J. O. Wright secured a copy of the recent Philadelphia edition of Balzac, on Japanese paper, for $129, and Dodd, Mead & Co. paid $50 for W. L. Andrews's "New Amsterdam, New Orange, New York." (1897.)

An almost complete set of first editions of Ainsworth's novels was sold, the volumes being offered separately, and bringing good prices. A collection of original pamphlets on dramatic subjects of the last and this century was bought by E. J. Wendell for $28.

On the evening of the 21st, 335 books were sold. There was considerable competition, and some of the more valuable volumes brought high prices. The star price of the evening was $410, for the two volumes of Brayley's "Theatres of London," with the original colored plates by Havell, published in 1826. That price was followed closely by the $585 given for "An Apology for the Life of Colly Cibber," (London, 1740,) which had been extended to three royal folio volumes by the insertion of 350 portraits and other plates, including some scarce prints by Bartolozzi and other famous engravers. Next in order was Burton's "Anatomy of Melancholy," (Oxford, 1621,) a rare edition, that went to Dodd, Mead & Co. for $160.

"Hours of Idleness," by Byron, a first edition, which once belonged to J. H. Jesse, brought $56. Chambers's "Book of Days" went for $252 for twelve volumes. Mark Twain's works seemed to be more attractive than any others of modern fiction.

Following is the list of the more important items sold: "The Decameron," first English translation, London, 1625, $75; "Booth in Twelve Dramatic Characters," $60; "Booth, the Elder and the Younger," $80; "Booth Memorials," by his daughter, $150; "The British Stage and Literary Cabinet," portraits by Cruikshank, London, 1817, $90; "Man Transformed," London, 1653, $35; Byron, "English Bards and Scotch Reviewers," London, 1811, $60; "Don Quixote," plates by Smirke, four volumes, $116; "Christy's Minstrels," the original dialogue book of G. N. Christy, partly in autograph, $18; "Coquelin-Irving Controversy," $56; "Coquelin Portraits," $30; also, "Costumes of All Nations," a chronological arrangement of the most famous works on costumes, with a vast number of colored plates, $80. The total amount realized on the second night's sale of books was $5598.

On the 22d inst., lots 650 to 1281 were disposed of during the afternoon and evening sessions. Some of the largest prices ever paid at auction for books in New York were given at these two sales. The highest figure of the day was $4300, which was paid by Dodd, Mead & Co. for Peter Cunningham's "Story of Nell Gwyn and the Sayings of Charles II." (London, 1852.) This book was extended to four volumes, and extra illustrated with great lavishness. Daly's "Peg Woffington," with rare plates, autographs, and play bills inserted, was bought by George D. Smith for $2850. J. O. Wright gave $2100 for another copy of the same work, with other rare extra illustrations. Another specimen of the care and money lavished by Mr. Daly on his books was Dickens's "Account of the Origin of the Pickwick Papers." This was enriched by many autographs and plates, and was knocked down to Mr. Smith for $1700. Dodd, Mead & Co. bought Forster's "Life of Dickens," with many inserted illustrations, for $1080, and Dickens's "Letters," with similar enrichments, for $1120. A collection of Dickens autograph letters, bound in two volumes, was bought by Mr. Benjamin for $1000. Many other books brought high prices. The total sum realized at the afternoon and evening sales was $27,229.10.

UNPUBLISHED BOOKS BY BALZAC.

It is announced, on the authority of Jules Luret of the Paris Figaro, that M. de Lovenjoul, of Brussels, has the manuscripts of fifteen works of Balzac, none of which have yet been published. Among these are "De L'Administration," "Aventure D'une Comedienne," "Traité de la Prière," "La Modiste," "Les Heritiers Boissrouge," "Le Theatre Comme Il Est," "Les Deux Amis," "Conte Samirique," "La Femme Auteur Entre Savants," "Mlle. Du Vissard, ou la Rance Sous le Consulat," and "Le Genese des Paysans." After August 18 next all rights connected with the publishing of Balzac in France will become public property, that is to say the right of publishing "Ursule Mirouet," "Cousine Bette," "Filles Aux Yeux D'Or," and fifty odd works of Balzac, for which the publishing house of Michel Levy, in 1865—fifteen years after Balzac's death—paid 80,000 francs to his widow, becomes the property of everybody.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

SEPARATE COPYRIGHT FOR PICTURES.

IN the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Boston, on the 16th inst., the case of James Gordon Bennett against The Boston Traveller was decided in favor of the defendant. The ruling is that an action for infringement cannot be maintained under Section 4965 of the United States Revised Statutes, which provides a penalty for the infringement of a copyright on an engraving, cut or print, for the unauthorized publication of a cut or cartoon, not itself copyrighted, though a part of a copyrighted newspaper. The court decided against the plaintiff's contention that it was only necessary to copyright the newspaper as such, and that it was not necessary to take out a separate copyright for the cut, as such, in order to bring an action under Section 4965. The judgment of the District Court in favor of defendant was affirmed.

OBITUARY NOTES.

WE learn with regret of the sudden death, on the 19th inst., of Peter Carter, well known through his almost life-long connection with the firm of Robert Carter & Brothers. Mr. Carter less than a year ago retired from business and was living with his son-in-law, James M. Speers, at 226 Belleville Avenue, Bloomfield, N. J., where he died. Mr. Carter was born at Earlestone, about thirty miles from Edinburgh, in August, 1825. In 1840 he came to New York and was employed as a clerk in his elder brother's bookstore, at 285 Broadway, near Reade Street, then the center of the publishing trade. In 1848 Robert Carter, the founder of the business, took his brothers Peter and Walter into partnership.

When the firm was dissolved by the death of Robert Carter, and the business was sold in 1890, Peter Carter became associated with the American Tract Society, from which he retired last summer. Mr. Carter was a man of charming personality, and was loved by all with whom he came into contact—from list boy up. His sunny smile and cheering word were especially encouraging to the beginner and the younger men in the trade, and his loss will therefore be felt in a wide circle of the growing generation.

ERNEST CHRISTOPHER DOWSON, a well-known English writer died at Catford, Kent, Eng., February 23. He was born at The Grove, Belmont Hill, Lee, Kent, August 2, 1867. The book upon which his reputation will probably rest is a tiny book called "Verses," published in 1896. In 1897 he published "a dramatic phantasy in one act" called "The Pierrot of the Minute," with illustrations by Aubrey Beardsley. In prose he wrote a volume of "stories and studies in sentiment" called "Dilemmas" (1895), and in collaboration with Arthur Moore, two novels, "A Comedy of Masks" (1893) and "Adrian Rome" (1899). A volume of poems, together with some poems in prose, called "Decorations," is in the press, and will be issued at once by Leonard Smithers, of London. Several short stories, among his best work in prose, have not yet been reprinted from the pages of the Savoy, to which he was a constant contributor.

ALEXANDER P. LINN, the well-known news-dealer, died at his home in Providence, R. I., aged fifty-two years. After the Civil War, through which Mr. Linn served in the 19th Pennsylvania Cavalry, he opened the news business in Providence, which he conducted successfully until his death. Mr. Linn was at one time president of the National Association of Newsdealers, and was one of the founders of the Rhode Island Newsdealers' Association, of which he was a president for a number of years.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

R. D. BLACKMORE left instructions in his will that no biography or memoir of him was to be published.

MRS. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT was married to Stephen Townesend, in London, on the 14th inst. The bridegroom is a son of the late Rev. George Tyler Townesend, once chaplain to the Duke of Northumberland, and also to the Bishop of Tasmania. He is a physician, and has won the degree of Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, but never cared for this profession, and several years ago abandoned it for the stage.

PAUL HERVIEU, the French novelist and playwright, who has just been admitted to the French Academy to take the vacancy left by the death of Edward Pailleron, will be the youngest member of that body, for he is but forty-three years old. Emile Faguet, who succeeds Victor Cherbuliez, is ten years older. Faguet is best known as the dramatic critic of the Figaro. He is also a university professor of repute and a general essayist.

It has long been rumored that J. K. Huysmans has resolved to leave the world and enter a religious order. At first the report received little credence. The Memorial de la Librairie Francaise now states that this brilliant mystical writer did actually leave Paris for a retreat in the Benedictine monastery at Ligugé, and, having completed his retreat, has determined on becoming an oblate, and was ordained novice-oblate on March 19. The oblate is a lay monk who does not wear a religious dress nor is he subject to any monastic rules; he is only obliged to read his breviary daily. J. K. Huysmans will not reside in the monastery at Ligugé; but he has had a little house built not far from it, and there will in future pass his life in prayer and work—for he does not abandon literature. "He will devote his ready pen and powerful creative faculty to the Godhead and religion." One first-fruit of this resolve was the work called "Pages Catholiques," published last November; and he has now begun work on a new book.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

JOHN LOVELL & SON, of Montreal, are to be the publishers of Frank T. Graham's "Annals of the Montreal Stage, with biographical and critical notices of the plays and players of a century." In our issue for March 17 we erroneously announced that this work was to be published by The Franklin Association of Philadelphia.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

MR. DALTON, who has assisted H. D. Traill since the foundation of Literature, has been appointed editor of that journal.

The Literary Review for March contains the first instalment of Herbert Copeland's "Boston in Novel and Romance," with pictures by Boardman Michael Robinson, also, the first of a series called Deckel Edge Papers, by Karl Edwin Harriman, and, in this instance, setting forth a familiar, breezy picture of Henry James at his home in Rye.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HORACE S. RIDINGS, of J. B. Lippincott Co., will sail for England on the 28th inst. by the Teutonic.

SIBLEY & DUCKER, Boston, announce a "History of English Literature," by Dr. F. V. N. Painter.

EX-QUEEN LILIUOKALANI, the former ruler of the Hawaiian Islands, has published for private circulation a book entitled "The Hawaiian Traditions of the Creation."

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in preparation a record of travel in Nova Scotia, by Margaret W. Morley, entitled "Down North." The book will be fully illustrated with reproductions from photographs.

THE ROBERT CLARKE Co. have just ready a work entitled "Shaksper not Shakespeare," by William H. Edwards, in denial of the claims kept up for William Shaksper, of Stratford, as the writer of the Shakespeare plays, or any of them.

A. S. BARNES & Co. have just published five volumes of the "Illustrated Commentary on the New Testament for Christian Workers," prepared by the Rev. Lyman Abbott. The volumes embrace the Gospels, Acts, and Romans.

THE International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations, 3 West Twentieth Street, New York, have in press the 1900 issue of the Year Book which is the official directory of the 1429 associations throughout the United States.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish on the 28th inst., under the title of "Woman and Artist," an amusing tale, by Max O'Rell, (Paul Blouët,) of a London artist who invents a rifle which he attempts to sell to both the French and Russian governments. Some amusing complications ensue.

E. B. TREAT & Co. have in press a work entitled "The Carpenter, an appreciation of Christ," by the Rev. C. A. S. Dwight; "The International Medical Annual for 1900," by a corps of editors; also the second revised edition of Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton's "A System of Legal Medicine."

G. W. DILLINGHAM Co. will publish in July Albert Ross's new novel—his twenty-third—to be entitled "A Sugar Princess." His latest novel, "Stranger Than Fiction," has already run into a third edition. 1,610,000 of his novels have been sold. "Thou Shalt Not," his first novel, after a sale of nearly 250,000 copies, is still in popular demand.

CAPTAIN HENRY DRISLER, who for nearly twenty-five years has been in the employ of Harper & Brothers, first as cashier and, later, as the manager of their advertising department, has purchased an interest in the Frank Leslie publishing house. Captain Drisler has been elected a director and treasurer of the concern. Mrs. Frank Leslie will remain editor and Frederick L. Colver, president.

THE sale of the Edelheim library at Bangs's last week was an event in this year's history of book auction sales. The collection contained a nearly complete set of the Kelm-scott Press publications that brought record prices. The Grolier Club books also sold extremely well, the "Decree of Star Chamber" bringing $180, and the "Rubaiyat" $160, a marked advance on last season's prices.

E. & J. B. YOUNG & Co. have in preparation "Figures of Speech Used in the Bible," explained and illustrated, by Rev. E. W. Bullinger, D.D. Dr. Bullinger has been engaged in this present great work for ten years, and by its study many obscure passages are said to "receive fresh light, many errors are corrected, and new beauties disclosed." It will make a large octavo volume, and be ready the latter part of March.

MACMILLAN Co. will publish immediately "The Epistles of the New Testament," rendered into current and popular English by the Rev. Henry Hayman, D.D.; and the second volume of "Old Testament Theology: the History of Hebrew Religion," by Prof. Archibald Duff, whose theme is the Deuteronomic Reformation in the seventh century B.C.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready the second volume of Dr. Gore's "Exposition of St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans," covering chapters ix.-xvi.; "Enoch Willoughby," a novel, by James A. Wickersham; "Smith College Stories," ten stories by Josephine Dodge Daskam; also "Boys and Men," a story of life at Yale, by Richard Holbrook. They will publish early next month a new novel of contemporary American life by Robert Grant, entitled "Unleavened Bread."

JOHN LANE is about to issue "Rudyard Kipling and His Work," by Richard Le Gallienne, with "Travels in England," by the same writer; "The Chronicle of a Cornish Garden," by Harry Roberts; "Birds of My Parish," by E. Pollard; "The Rhodesians: Sketches of South African Life," "Side-Lights on the Reign of Terror," by Mlle. des Echerolles; "All About Dogs," by Charles Henry Lane, illustrated; "What is Poetry?" by Edmond Holmes; and "The Professor, and Other Poems," by Arthur Christopher Benson.

CURTIS & CAMERON have just ready an essay entitled "How to Tell a Good Picture," by Charles H. Caffin, art critic of Harper's Weekly. They have also just ready the portrait of Janice Meredith, announced a few weeks ago. Regarding the portrait, so many questions are being asked whether it is really an historical old miniature that a word may be said about it. Mr. Ford read the description of his heroine to an artist friend, who made a sketch in accordance with it. Mr. Ford suggested changes in the successive sketches until the final result was obtained in the form of the miniature, which we have reproduced. In a sense, therefore, the Janice portrait is the creation of both Mr. Ford and the artist.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have in preparation a volume entitled "Pictures of the Old French Court," by Catherine A. Bearne. This volume treats of the daily life at court and in society during the reigns of three Valois queens, all of them characteristic and important in the history of France—Jean Bourbon, Isabeau de Baviere, and Anne de Bretagne—wives of Charles v., Charles vi., and Louis xii. respectively. It also gives a short chapter upon two others, Marie d'Anjou and Charlotte de Savoie, wives of Charles vii. and Louis xi., who were less conspicuous and of whom less is known. It endeavors to bring before its readers interesting details respecting three different courts, the intellectual, almost saintly Court of Charles v. and Jeanne de Bourbon, the wild reckless dissipation of that of Charles vi. and Isabeau de Baviere, and the early romance, enlightened government, and splendid surroundings of Louis xii. and Anne de Bretagne, the first modern king and queen of France.

COLONEL G. B. M. HARVEY, the director of the affairs of Harper & Brothers, sailed for Europe on the 21st inst. He will be gone five weeks, and all the time of his stay in Europe will be spent in London and Paris. In these cities Harper & Brothers have branch houses—that in Paris recently opened, the London branch of long standing and large business. The publishing company maintains a complete organization in both these cities, and it is to get a thorough knowledge, both of the business and the organization, that Col. Harvey will make this visit. While abroad Col. Harvey will cast out lines for writers for the several Harper publications. "I have a number of authors in view," he said to a reporter before starting, "but am not at liberty to give their names, because contracts have not yet been closed. There are several authors in London now whose work is in demand. In Paris I will secure French writers of celebrity, and also writers of other nationalities. Paris is the market not only for French writers, but for those of all continental Europe. . . . Harper & Brothers is busier now than it has been for ten years. We have the largest plant in the world, yet it is much overtaxed to meet the demand. I go to London for one reason, to see whether our business there is on the same prosperous footing as here."

PICK-UPS.

LOOKING BACKWARD.—A colony has been formed to lead "Looking Backward" lives. It will be awkward if success turns their heads.—St. Paul Globe.

WHO'S WHO?—May: "I'm always getting the two Winston Churchills mixed up." Jane: "They are easily distinguished. There's the one who wrote 'Richard Carvel,' you know, and the one who didn't."—Town Topics.

EASY ENOUGH!—The story is told of a woman who called at a bookstore for a set of George Eliot's works. When told that the price was ten dollars, she exclaimed, "Why, Wanamaker sells that set for eight dollars." "Then, madam," she was politely informed, "you should buy there; we can't sell our set so cheap." "But Wanamaker's are all gone; he hasn't any left, and doesn't know when he shall get any." "Yes, madam," replied the clerk, "if we hadn't any, we could afford to offer them for a dollar a set."

AUCTION SALES.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office should either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

HAVE READY TO-DAY

THE RHYMER

By ALLAN MCAULAY. 12mo, $1.50.

A moving romance of Edinburgh and Scotch rural life of which the poet Burns is the central figure. His character is portrayed with vivid touches which throw into sharp relief both the nobility and weakness of his complex nature, and the subsidiary personages are drawn with equal sureness. The drama in which they move is not less noteworthy for the intensity of its romantic interest than for its remarkably reproduced historical and local color.

THE TOILING OF FELIX, AND OTHER POEMS

By HENRY VAN DYKE. 12mo, $1.00.

This volume includes the verse which Dr. van Dyke has written since the publication three years ago of "The Builders, and Other Poems," which is now in its fourth edition. There are three long narrative poems, one of which has not heretofore been published in any form, together with "Seven Small Songs in Different Keys," in which the poet voices his love of nature and of his fellow man.

FAITH AND SIGHT

The Relations of Agnosticism to Theology. By Rev. WILLIAM P. MERRILL, Sixth Presbyterian Church, Chicago. 12mo, $1.00.

Mr. Merrill's book is an attempt to answer the question, What must theology be to express the faith of to-day? The solution he finds not in a mere reconstruction of old systems but in the endeavor led by honest doubters to reconcile scientific facts with man's religious instincts.

THE FORMS OF PROSE LITERATURE

By J. H. GARDINER, Instructor in English at Harvard. 12mo, $1.50 net.

This work consists of twenty carefully selected examples with an introductory analysis designed to be used in conjunction with Wendell's "English Composition," and other similar books.

KENNEDY OF GLENHAUGH.

By DAVID MACLURE,

Author of "DAVID TODD," Etc.

A New Scottish Novel which in delineation of picturesque characters, and in quaint and witty diction, is worthy of a place beside the famous stories of Ian Maclaren. Profusely illustrated by Will Crawford.

Other volumes in this Unsurpassed Series are His Three Wives, by Mrs. J. H. WALWORTH; Uranie, by CAMILLE FLAMMARION. Other volumes in press.

OUT OF THE WEST

Come Two New Books of Universal Interest.

GUIDE TO MEXICO.

Containing an up-to-date colored map and numerous illustrations.

The Key to Wealth.

Surpassing the Richest Klondyke Treasures.

This book is published exclusively in the interest of people who want reliable information about Mexico, free from any false coloring and railway companies might put in selfish prospectuses and guides, liable to mislead seekers of homes or fortunes in that wonderland. Bound in flexible linen, pocket size. Price, $1.00.

CHANTS FOR THE BOER.

A Series of Stirring War Poems, by JOAQUIN MILLER, written in behalf of the Boers.

These poems, published in the form of a neat booklet, are sure to meet with a ready and active sale. Dr. Leyds, the representative of the Transvaal Republic in Germany, has written his appreciation of the matchless poem, "Boston to the Boers."

The publication of this booklet at the time when the Transvaal Republic is making its struggle for resistance is timely.

Bound in illuminated paper cover, very neat design. Price, 25 cents.

BLACK ROCK COMMENDATIONS

"It has rarely been our good fortune to come across a book in which the freshest humor, the truest pathos, and the most exquisite tenderness are so fully displayed."

"It is filled with humor, and pathos, and tenderness; full, too, of real breathing life, that proves the author to have shared the experiences of which he speaks."

"The literary workmanship is of a high quality and betokens a strong ethical insight . . . is full of real humor and fresh pathos."

FROM A MAN WHO HAS BEEN THERE

"I know mining camps. . . The author has shifted Satan's throne of royal state from Milton's hell to a mountain throne in the Rockies."

"Would you see a battle with hell—a real battle—with modern angels and devils in flesh and blood contending—a battle in which the good angels win? Read 'Black Rock!'"

"Its incidents stir the blood like bugle-calls to battle. Dramatize it, and it will outrank the 'Old Homestead.' . . ."

"Young man, whoever you are, read 'Black Rock!'"

FROM THE OUTLOOK,
DEC. 16, 1899

"Ralph Connor's 'Black Rock' was good, but 'The Sky Pilot' is better. The matter which he gives us is real life; virile, true, tender, humorous, pathetic, spiritual, wholesome. His Bret Harte manner in describing this life has at times a distinct and refreshing quality of literary workmanship; his style, fresh, crisp and terse, accords with the Western life, which he well understands. Henceforth the foot-hills of the Canadian Rockies will probably be associated in many a mind with the name of 'Ralph Connor.'"—The Outlook.

THE SKY PILOT COMMENDATIONS

Philad'a

"Every chapter is an act in a drama which moves steadily onward to its predestined climax—he possesses all the power of Bret Harte."

"The same qualities of insight, descriptive skill, pathos and humor, are mingled here as in 'Black Rock.'"

"Not since 'The Bonnie Brier Bush' has a writer appeared with so strong and masterful a hand in dealing with the rigor and pathos of life."

ROBERTSON NICOLL

in "The British Weekly" says:

RALPH CONNOR has something of his own. He has, for one thing, a new subject. For another he has a style that fits it. Books more bracing in tone than these I have never read. They are full of life and full of the best kind of life."
